

Psychological Assistant Applications

We believe that training civic-minded clinicians to be confident business owners produces more access to restorative havens for mental health support for marginalized communities. Graduates from clinical programs deserve mentorship and training in private practice management.

Our clinical groups effectively nurture the ability to heal the destructive results of internalized racism, homophobia, transphobia, and challenges faced by BIPOC and LGBTQ+ individuals. We prioritize the recruitment of therapists from these same communities.

Our team of trained therapists, talented marketers, and seasoned business leaders deliver guidance that develops your independent caseload that transitions with you. Participants will move within an informed process that keeps their private practice thriving for years to come.

We invite graduate students and mental health professionals recognized by the APA Model Act for State Licensure of Psychologists to join us!

Everything we do happens in virtual spaces, so telehealth protocols apply to all client-facing support. We host Psychological Assistants who want clinical and/or research mentorship with exposure to community development. Participants will embrace a commitment to five hours per week, for a full semester. Modest stipends are awarded.

Available opportunities:

- Psychoeducation: client-facing delivery of mindfulness and self-regulation techniques to support client coping skills as supportive volunteers.
- Group Facilitation: client-facing delivery of approved curriculum in virtual groups.
- Developing Coursework: input and collaboration related to psychoeducation curriculum development for small groups.
- Interview trauma survivors: client-facing intake and support with Victims of Crime applicants.
- Patient diagnosis and treatment planning: collaborate within integrated care teams to provide clinical input.
- Professional networking: join like-minded peers in training and dialogue spaces to expand exposure and access to consultations.

Psych Assistants gain access to 1:1 mentoring support for private practice management, an invitation to clinical training meetings and workshops, and access to paid client service delivery upon graduation.
